Federal Detectives Question
Frank Fiero, Brooklyn
Letter Carrier, Caught in $200,000 Narcotic Raid

Named in Unsigned Notes

Many Suspects Seized by 150 Detectives Working on $2,000,000 Hold-Up

Anonymous letters received yesterday by Wallis E. J. Collins, United States District Attorney, suggested that $200,000 of the $2,000,000 stolen in the recent postal truck robbery had found its way to drug smuggling ring leaders in Europe. The letters further suggested that Frank Fiero, a Brooklyn letter carrier, arrested and held yesterday with his wife, Rose, in a $200,000 narcotic drug seizure case, might throw light on illicit drug traffic here.

Fiero and his wife, who lived in an apartment at 9 Nassau Street, Brooklyn, it is charged, were found in possession of fifty pounds of heroin, worth $200,000 at street selling prices. They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Barnore and held in bonds of $5,000 and $2,500. At the time of the arrest and seizure, $30,000 in marked bills is said to have changed hands. More than one hundred post-office inspectors and narcotic division agents under Postoffice Inspector William J. McCormack and Narcotic Division Chief Frank O'yer are working on the case.

Refuse to Answer Theft Queries
Immediately following their arraignment before Commissioner Barnore, Fiero and his wife were questioned by Mr. Collins concerning any knowledge they might possibly possess regarding the post office robbery. Both witnesses refused to make answers to any questions, saying they were acting on advice of their counsel, Morris Kamen, of 150 Broadway.

The refusal to answer was made on the grounds of possible incrimination. Bits of information which have bubbled up from the underworld for weeks were pieced together by the narcotic division in Washington and post office inspectors. This information finally resulted in 150 narcotic detectives appearing in New York early last week for a concentrated effort under Director Frank O'yer.

Men and women who were appearing to spend too much money in the bright light districts and who were known to be using narcotics and trafficking in wholesale quantities of drugs were placed under surveillance.

Several Suspects Arrested
All evidence has pointed, according to the government detectives, to the corruption by drugs, promises of great wealth, or in some other manner, of one or more trusted employees of the postal service. Arrests of suspects have been made from time to time, and the government has acted on every possible clue, including those from anonymous sources.

When the letters were received in regard to Fiero the government already had identified him as an alleged handler of drugs. Mr. Collins said that a special award was made to Mrs. Louis Liebowitz, of 137 Canal Street, who displayed her third prize winning baby, Irving, four and a half months old. The two older prize winners, Sylvie, aged four, and Ruth, two and a half years old, stood blushing beside the 1921 prize model and heard the nurse explain that it was Board of Health prize money for the best baby of the year.

The prize for the best fat reducer was awarded to Miss Sarah Strong, of the heavyweight brigade. She weighed 181 pounds when the contest began and has lost 31 pounds through supervised dieting.

Harry Maeth, 309 East Seventy-second Street, won the prize for the best adult teeth, and Beatrice Jolles, 545 Fox Street, Brooklyn, won the prize for the best child. Lawrence Tammany won a silver medal and heard the Mayor say that he had a good name and should have won the prize.

The show closed last night with a record of 200,000 visitors. Health commissioners from many cities have asked to borrow the exhibits for the benefit of the home folk.

William F. Kenny Appointed Honorary Deputy Fire Chief
Fire Commissioner Thomas J. Brennan has appointed William F. Kenny, of Shore Road and Ninety-first Street, Brooklyn, an honorary deputy chief of the Fire Department, to serve without pay. Mr. Kenny is a son of the late Battalion Chief Thomas A. Kenny. In memory of his father, Mr. Kenny gives annually the Thomas A. Kenny memorial medal to firemen for exceptional duty during the year. Last year he gave the Fire Department a searchlight, costing $15,000, for use at fires.

His brother, Edward J. Kenny, also an honorary deputy chief, has been supplying without cost to the department, portable and stationary lighting lamps for use at fires.

General Weather Conditions.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The disturbance that was over the Mississippi Valley last night moved rapidly northeastward to Canada, attended by general precipitation over the Mississippi Valley and all districts east thereof, except the Great Lakes and the region of the Great Lakes. Another disturbance is approaching the Pacific coast, attended by rain, the Oregon and snow in Washington and Idaho.

Pressure is high and rising over the middle West, with the center of maximum pressure over the upper Missouri Valley. The coldest weather of the season prevailed over the Northwest, the lowest temperature being 28 degrees below zero at Havre, Mont.

Outlook is for generally fair weather in the states east of the Mississippi River, except that rains are probable in Florida, and local snows near the Great Lakes. Temperatures will be decidedly lower in practically all districts east of the Mississippi River, the fall in temperature amounting to a cold wave in the Atlantic states, except Florida.

Storm warnings remain displayed on the Atlantic coast at and north of Cape Hatteras.

District Forecasts.—Eastern New York and Eastern New England—Cloudy and much colder Sunday; cold wave Monday; Western Pennsylvania—Partly cloudy and colder Sunday; Monday fair.

Western New York.—Cloudy and colder Sunday; cold wave Monday, fair Tuesday.

Eastern New York.—New Jersey and Delaware—Cloudy and much colder, with rain Sunday; Monday fair and colder Tuesday.

Mrs. Latham Hall Sails With Assurance Daily Play Won't Be Interrupted
Mrs. Latham Hall, the English golf player who recently won two out of three rounds in the first American women's championship at the Hollywood course, won the first round from Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of Belleaire, the Metropolitan champion, and in the second round defeated Mrs. Mavin Jones, of Olympia Fields, the Western champion. In the third round, however, she lost to Miss Alexa Stirling, the American woman golf champion. Mrs. Hall was runner-up in the open championship in England in 1915.

A large party of American women golf players were at the pier to see her sail, and as she went with them aboard the Vestris the steamship officials invited all to the boat deck, where they exhibited a surprise for the English player.

Set up amidships was a costly golf-meter which will enable Mrs. Hall and other saloon passengers to play a full eighteen hole game daily while the vessel is at sea.

Mrs. Latham hurried to her stateroom, appearing a few minutes later with a brassie and a midiron. A golf ball attached to a ten-foot steel cord was teed on a mat and the English woman made a perfect drive of 275 yards.

Mrs. Hall, who came here in September to meet American women champions at the Hollywood course, won the first round from Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of Belleaire, the Metropolitan champion, and in the second round defeated Mrs. Mavin Jones, of Olympia Fields, the Western champion. In the third round, however, she lost to Miss Alexa Stirling, the American woman golf champion. Mrs. Hall was runner-up in the open championship in England in 1915.

Hylan Uses Tactics
Like Old Solomon's
As He Faces Babies

Refuses to Decide Which Is Best at Health Exhibit, and So Prize Is Divided as His Brass Band Waits
Mayor Hylan extricated himself from the most perilous dilemma of his new administration yesterday afternoon, when he side-stepped the necessity of choosing between two prize-winning babies in the closing hours of the Health Show at the Grand Central Palace.

The two infants had been given up as perfect, the judges who were unable to find a flaw in either, or a distinguishing degree of perfection in one which the other lacked. They threw up their stethoscopes and tape measure when they saw the Mayor approaching, escorted by a brass band and several dozen health officials, and gratefully embraced the opportunity to let the Mayor decide.

But his honor, after a consultation with Health Commissioner Copeland, suggested that the prize be divided.

The two perfect babies were Edna Roeth, sixteen months old, of 98 Logan Street, Brooklyn, and William Farnas, eighteen months old, of 435 East 141st Street. Each received $125.

Mayor Hylan was asked to present the prizes to the mothers, which he did, saying:

"I am glad the decision was not forced upon me. If it had been left to me I should have given prizes to every one of the one hundred and twenty thousand. They all look good to me."

A special award was made to Mrs. Louis Liebowitz, of 137 Canal Street, who displayed her third prize winning baby, Irving, four and a half months old. The two older prize winners, Sylvie, aged four, and Ruth, two and a half years old, stood blushing beside the 1921 prize model and heard the nurse explain that it was Board of Health prize money for the best baby of the year.
